Ask your partner:

- Where do you like to go on the weekend and what do you do?
- Who do you like to go with?

Let's Explore!

Is it a date?

* In English, you go on or go out on "a date". The verb is to date.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Peter: Hey John, what are you doing?
John: I'm checking the event listings for the weekend.
Peter: You can come to the beach. Vanessa and I are going.
John: On a date?
Peter: I don't know. We're just going together.
John: I want to listen to some music.
Peter: What about the music festival starting on Friday night in Summerville?
John: Summerville is nice, but it's too far.
Peter: How about on campus? There are bands playing on Saturday or Sunday, right?
John: Wait, I'm checking online.
Peter: Are you asking Sally and her friend Matt to go with you?
John: I'm not sure.
